This month's coloured attachment scripture is JEREMIAH 29:14b

"I WILL BE FOUND BY YOU"

This is a promise from God that he is there when a person eagerly and sincerely seeks after Him and His Kingdom. The seeker finds a boundless helper in God. God seeks the lost and the lost seek God. Those who do seek God will be rewarded, those who fail to seek Him will suffer eternal loss. Seeking is to diligently search.

God, being the desired object of a close pursuant in prayer is accessible wherever the seeker may be geographically. God calls humankind to pursue Him. Those who look for God whole-heartedly, will find Him and experience His restoration. His plans are of a new beginning, with a purpose. God desires people to investigate of Him so He can bless them, in this matter His plans are firm.

Seeking God is characteristic of a new hope and future; there is spiritual restoration and renewal of the heart. The opportunity to inquire of God is only in this lifetime. Seeking God begins in the heart and resilience in seeking God is required, for it to be the top priority of every human being.

The gracious gifts of the Lord's is subject to the seeker's willingness to repent. The results of seeking God are life, forgiveness, provision, wisdom and understanding, renewed strength, rejoicing, happiness and satisfaction. Unrighteousness, pride, trusting of human resources, idolatry and superficial action area hindrance to seeking after God. Seeking God and life through any occultist practise is forbidden.

A JUNE EVENT -Boniface was an Englishman, born in 680. He is called the apostle to the Germans and was the greatest missionary of the Dark Ages. He entered a monastery and at age 30 was ordained. His abilities guaranteed a career in the English church, but Boniface had a missions call on his life. He sailed to Holland on his first missionary attempt, but he met strong political opposition and returned to England discouraged. Boniface rejuvenated left again for the Continent, going to Rome in 718, then, with the Pope's sanction, to Germany. For the next 12 years he worked there and he soon began seeing great numbers of pagans converted. In one village the local public was convinced that a massive tree, the sacred oak of Thundergod, held supernatural powers. Boniface took an axe and felled it in full view of the horrified citizens. He then built a church with the wood. Boniface travelled from village to village, smashing idols, destroying temples, and preaching the gospel. But he soon began building churches, training and organizing an indigenous clergy. Women became actively involved in his work. In 744, he established the important monastery of Fulda. Boniface's converts fanned out as missionaries throughout Central Europe. He was back in Holland for a preaching tour, and thousands of converts were being baptized. On June 5, 755 a band of hostile pagans ambushed him as he camped by the river Borne. He was slain while clutching a Bible in his hand.

God Bless.
